Overman Changes and Upsets Republican Plan Of Strategy

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, March 11—President Coolidge was advised today by Republican leaders in the senate not to re-submit the nomination of Charles B. Warren of Michigan, to be attorney general, because it could not be confirmed.

A number of administration senators visited the white house today to discuss the situation, growing out of the rejection of Warren's nomination, but none of them would undertake to interpret the views or purposes of Mr. Coolidge.

Senator Cummins, of Iowa, chairman of the judiciary committee, which favorably reported the nomination, said he could not see where another vote would change the situation, adding that most of the senators who were absent yesterday were

One group, which spent a considerable time with the president, was composed of Senator Watson, of Indiana, Wadsworth of New York, Joseph of New Hampshire, Reed of Pennsylvania, and Smith of Utah. Charles Beecher Warren of Michigan failed to become attorney-general of the United States by a single vote yesterday in the senate. His nomination was rejected 40 to 40, Vice-President Dawes failed to reach the capitol from his hotel in time to cast the deciding vote.

Administration leaders sought to play announcement of the result in the hope that the vice-president was rushing to the senate in a taxicab, would arrive in time to break the tie.

With victory in their grasp, Democratic opponents of the nomination vigorously demanded that the roll call be closed with the announcement of the result, but their Republican leaders resorted to further strategy in an effort to save the nomination from defeat.

Senator Reed of Pennsylvania announced that he would change his vote from yes to nay so that he might present a motion to reconsider the result. That changed the final vote technically to 9 for and 41 against confirmation.

As soon as Senator Reed made his motion, opponents of confirmation entered with a motion to lay it on the table, and demanded a roll call. That vote, too, resulted in a tie, 40 to 40, but as the vice president, who could have cast the deciding ballot, entered the chamber, Senator Overman of North Carolina, the only Democrat to vote for confirmation, switched his vote. That decided the issue, making the vote 41 to 39 to reject the nomination.

The Reed motion on the table, a final and irrevocable action under Senate rules. The only way the nomination could again come before the senate would be for President Coolidge to resubmit it.

This is the first photo of Mrs. Dorothy Muriel Dennistoun, whose revelations in the London courts, in her suit against her former husband, Colonel Ian O. Dennistoun, now the husband of the Earl of Carnarvon's widow, have shocked all England. The case has opened a social scandal involving princes, generals and other famous personages who, according to Mrs. Dennistoun's testimony, fell in love with her. Mrs. Dennistoun is suing for $6,000, which she claims she lent her husband.

PROMINENT FARMER
IS DISCOVERED DEADSon Finds Body of His Father In Loft of Barn At Home

Grant Winsett, well known farmer residing southwest of Hartselle, near Barclay Bridge, died suddenly at his home late Monday afternoon according to news received by The Daily from Hartselle today.

Mr. Winsett had been in his usual good health, and was in Hartselle a few days ago. He conducted a small store at his home, and was a successful planter and was a good citizen. He was found dead at his barn, according to advices received here, having been discovered by his son late Monday afternoon.

Mr. Winsett had been fighting some fire abroad near his place, Monday afternoon, and came to the house, later going to the barn. His son coming in from work late in the afternoon, went up in the hay loft to feed the stock. Discovering his father lying there he spoke to him. Receiving no answer he went and touched him, and found him cold.

It is the general opinion in Hartselle that Mr. Winsett died suddenly from heart failure. Last year he suffered an attack similar to the one from which he died, and was some time recovering from its effects.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon, with interment at Cedar Creek church yard. He leaves a wife and several children. Deceased was about sixty years of age.

Rhineland Bride
In Social Registry

(Associated Press)
NEW YORK, March 11—The name of Mrs. Alice Beatrice Jones Rhineland, former laundress and house maid, who is now being sued by her husband, Leonard K. Rhineland, for annulment of their marriage, on the grounds that she is of negro descent, appears in the March supplement to the Social Registry, it became known today.

Shortly after the marriage of Rhineland to Miss Jones, it became known that a census taker had placed the Rhineland bride in his records as a mulatto. The couple separated after that and in his annulment suit, Rhineland alleged the bride had deceived him about her race.

Events Leading Up To Probe

(Associated Press)
CHEYENNE, Wyo., March 11—How the scramble of independent oil operators for leases on the big Teapot Dome naval oil reserve led to a senate investigation early in April, 1922 of a report that the naval oil pool had been leased to the Mammoth Oil company, was told on the witness stand in the government suit here today by United States Senator Kendrick, of Wyoming.

Senator Kendrick told of events leading up to the point where he introduced a resolution in the senate, calling on the interior department for information on reports that negotiations were being carried on with private interests for its development.

Testimony by Senator Kendrick and a deposition from his secretary, William Anderson, was introduced by the government as tending to show that the then secretary of the interior, Albert B. Fall, continued to receive from independent oil operators proposals under which they would lease Teapot Dome, or parts of it, while Sinclair already had been given a lease.

SITUATION AGAIN IS
TENSE AT HERRIN

(Associated Press)
HERRIN, Ill., March 11—After several weeks of relief from factional troubles a tenseness was apparent again in Herrin today, as the result of a general belief that a bomb explosion which wrecked the front of the H. O. Fowler grocery store and apartment building yesterday had been sent by enemies of Glenn Fowler, active Klansmen, and supporter of the late S. Glenn Young, liquor raider.

No one was seriously injured. Acting Sheriff Randall Parks, who has been in office since the departure of Sheriff George Galligan, in accord with the Springfield peace pact, said he believed he would soon have the guilty persons behind the bars.

Fourth Arrest Is Made By Jasper Sheriff In Flogging Case

(Associated Press)
BIRMINGHAM, Ala., March 11—Philip Lasusa, a shopkeeper, who was kidnapped from his store last night by a band of men, was found in a serious condition at his home today by newspaper men.

The man was suffering from wounds resulting from a flogging, according to members of his family. Lasusa was said to be barely able to talk and he would not discuss the treatment he received at the hands of the band that carried him to woods in an automobile.

The police had failed to find trace of Joseph Zimmerman, a railroad employee, who was kidnapped yesterday. He was charged with annoying school girls.

JASPER, Ala., March 11.—Will Durpe, identified by George Tallant, as the man who directed the attack upon Tallant Monday night by a band of robed and masked men, was arrested and placed in jail this morning by Sheriff Kilgore.

The arrest of Durpe marks the fourth man to be jailed by the sheriff, since Tallant a hotel clerk, was flogged. Sheriff Kilgore stated he expected to make more arrests soon. Tallant stated it was easy to identify Durpe as his mask was pulled off in the struggle and he was plainly seen in the moonlight. Durpe is a cotton mill employee at Cordova.

Friends of Tallant are raising a fund to aid him in the prosecution of the band that flogged him. Tallant is still in a serious condition, but it is expected he will recover.

Negroes Fined In
Police Court Today

Milton Humes and wife, Lear Humes were fined $101.60 each and given 90 days for charges of violation of prohibition laws. The woman was held on a charge of selling liquor while Humes was fined on a charge of having liquor in his possession. Both cases were remanded to jail.

Officers Hendrix, McCall, Turney, and Jennings made the arrests.

It is understood that the negroes plead guilty to the charge and are likely to appeal.

Citizens Before
City Councilmen

W. E. Perie was heard before the city council of Albany last night protesting against the planting of trees on Prospect drive near the new high school building. It was the opinion of the citizen that the street had not been made wide enough and that for that reason the planting of trees should not be allowed by the board of education.

The matter was referred to the city engineer, the city attorney, and the street commission. It is likely that the objection will be given consideration at the next regular meeting of the council on March 20.

MRS. STOKES SAYS
TRAIN STORY MYTH
RESTING HER CASE

Witness Was On Stand But 30 Minutes This Morning

ALLEGATIONS OF HUSBAND DENIED

Contradicts Testimony Of Conductors Of Sleeping Cars

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, March 11.—Hearing of testimony in the Stokes trial was concluded at 12:20 p. m. and court was adjourned until 2 p. m., when arguments to the jury will start.

Mrs. Stokes was on the witness stand 30 minutes and was not cross examined. She made a general denial of all accusations made against her by Mr. Stokes and J. P. Burk and C. V. Hanson, Chicago sleeping car conductors, who testified she had travelled overnight, with men companions.

She denied she had ever been an inmate of the Chicago Everleigh club.

She was followed on the stand by her mother, Mrs. Arthur Scott Miller, of Denver. Mrs. Stokes denied testimony of two sleeping car conductors that she had shared on one occasion a berth and on another a compartment, with a young man en route from Denver to Chicago.

She also denied statements of Mr. Stokes as to occurrences in their New York home New Year's Eve, 1919, when Mr. Stokes testified she twice appeared partly disrobed before her young cousin, Harry Billig, of Chicago, which, the aged defendant testified, was followed by their final separation January 1, 1919.

Mrs. Stokes said that she never had ridden on a train with any man other than her husband.

Mrs. Stokes testified that she had never taken the train from Denver, upon which J. P. Burk, of Chicago, sleeping car conductor, said she rode to Chicago with a man she introduced as "Billig."

She denied that she had travelled from Chicago to Denver with her children in 1922, as testified by Burk, who said that was what made Mrs. Stokes a figure in his memory.

"The children were wards of the Denver court," she said, "and I could not have taken them from the state." "Yes, I did scratch him," admitted Mrs. Stokes, referring to her husband's testimony. "He was trying to choke me and I defended myself in that manner."

"Mr. Stokes left the house," said Mrs. Stokes in reply to a question as to who was responsible for the separation. "I did not know he was leaving. He said nothing about it."

Mrs. Miller was asked only a few questions regarding the presence of the children, at the time the sleeping car conductor said their playfulness attracted him to Mrs. Stokes. She said they were in their Denver home. The prosecution then rested.

PRAYER SUBJECT
OF EVANGELISTRev. Gregory Heard at First Presbyterian
Opening Revival

The initial service of the revival series was held last night at the First Presbyterian church, Decatur, Rev. A. P. Gregory, evangelist speaking to a fairly large crowd in an impressive sermon on "Prayer." The musical program was under the direction of C. H. Johnson who sang "Whisper a Prayer."

Rev. Gregory took at the basis of his sermon the story of the woman of Canaan in Matthew 15:22 to 28. The speaker in a very forcible way presented scriptural arguments for the value and power of prayer.

He asked if any one present had a relative or friends who is devil-possessed, and, if so, what should be done. "Do what this woman did," he said. "She came to Jesus. She knew He could help. She was earnest and completely identified herself with her afflicted daughter. She said 'have mercy on me.'"

"And she persevered when her faith and patience were tested. She got what she asked because she continued to ask, expecting a favorable answer. She appropriated the privilege and the power of prayer."

The speaker said that we do not get favorable answers because we do not fully believe the promises in the Bible. Reference was made to the fact that three thousand people were converted on the day of Pentecost, not so much because of the fine preaching of Peter, as the ten days of praying by 120 Christians before the sermon was preached by Peter.

Mr. Gregory said God "is willing and anxious to answer our prayers as willing as He was to answer the prayer of the Syrophinician woman."

An interesting feature of the service was the special number by the junior choir.

Rev. Gregory will preach at three and 7:30 o'clock each day.

Prayer meetings for men and boys in one room and for women and girls in another room will be held from seven to 7:30 o'clock each evening.

Mr. Gregory expects to preach a second sermon on prayer tonight.

Two States Take
Stock Of Damage

(Associated Press)
INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 11—Indiana and Southern Illinois today took stock of the damage done by the storm which swept over these two states yesterday and last night, causing property damage estimated at more than half a million dollars. Several persons were injured, none seriously.

In Edgar County, Ill., where the damage was estimated at $75,000,000 about a dozen homes and the Methodist church was levelled. Ten houses were destroyed near Paris, Ill.

At Terre Haute, Ind., the storm blew down a number of houses and unroofed several buildings at St. Mary's of the Wood Academy, causing damage of more than $50,000.

CITY IS UNABLE TO MEET REQUEST OF
THE SCHOOL BOARD

Resolution Adopted By Albany Council At Special Meeting

UNABLE TO GIVE THE SUM ASKED

School Term May Be Curtailed To Seven and Half Months

After due consideration through the finance committee of the Albany city council it was determined at a special session last night that the city is unable to meet the request of the board of education for $15,000 to aid in completing the present school term.

Failure to grant the required amount said to be necessary for the continuance of the present term to the full nine months may mean that the school system will close after the seven and one-half months term is concluded.

The council met at the Albany city hall last evening at 7 o'clock to discuss the request of the board of education that was made during the past week asking that the city grant $15,000 to aid the system. With the meeting called to order by President Jolly, a report was submitted by Chairman Maxwell of the finance committee, to which the request had been referred, and the following resolution was adopted after due explanation by Chairman Maxwell that the council had taken every step toward raising the necessary fund and had been unsuccessful.

The report follows:
Albany, Alabama,
March 10, 1925.

Be it resolved by the city council of the city of Albany, Alabama, in special session assembled that WHEREAS; after exhausting every means to procure the sum of Fifteen Thousand dollars; the sum necessary or asked for by the board of education, of the City of Albany, Alabama, to pay the expenses of the rest of the present term of Public Schools,

Therefore, be it resolved we do very much regret our inability to secure the needed funds, and therefore do not know of anything we can further do to relieve the condition.

The above resolution was unanimously adopted by the City Council.

Attest, HENRY HARTUNG
City Clerk.

No information was obtainable from school authorities regarding the next step that is to be made, but it is known that the board of education will take further action before allowing the system to close.

The councilmen expressed genuine regret, at the meeting held last night, that the city was unable to meet the demands of the board and the belief was prevalent that they had made every possible move towards the raising of the necessary amount.

A THREE DAYS' COUGH IS YOUR DANGER SIGNAL

Chronic coughs and persistent colds lead to serious lung trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with twofold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and kills the germ.
Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by the medical fraternity as the greatest healing agency for the treatment of chronic coughs and colds and other forms of throat and lung troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and destroys the germs that lead to consumption.
Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of chronic coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, catarrhal bronchitis and other forms of throat and lung diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds of the flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Co., Atlanta, Ga. (Adv.)

SINNERS IN HEAVEN

Flash of comprehension leapt into his eyes.
"And they came hither thinking to find thee here, Great Chief, so that they might slay thee?"
A smile lit up Croft's face. If not strictly accurate, this surmise would suit his purpose admirably.
"Even so! And, seeing thy tribe of a different hue, they were filled with fear and cried, 'Let us slay them'—he had a vague impression of Biblical eloquence, but it translated very well—"And they slew all thy sons in their fear; then ran to their boats. For their hearts are as the fermented breadfruit long stored in a pit."
Pausing to refresh his oratory, he proceeded to picture their mutual enemy in lurid colors, assuring the chief of their downfall. This gave him another inspiration.
"The gods sent us hither to tell thee that thy 'Vow of Vengeance' had already overtaken the tribe," he announced coolly. "But, because thou camest against us, we could not carry but our mission. The gods were angered, therefore, and visited thy tribe with sickness. Thou hadst to learn the fear of us and our wrath. Therefore, Chief, see that thou and thine fall not again into sin by lifting thy hands against us, the friends of all the gods!"
This flow of eloquence made a tremendous impression upon Chinabahal. His relief was intense. That this godlike pair, with their wonderful powers, had come upon a mission of peace and friendship, inspired visions of renewed prosperity in his simple mind. Coming closer, he prostrated himself at their feet, in submission.
After this they set forth again. It was no longer difficult to make Chinabahal talk. His delight was almost childlike, resulting in a gurgling difficulty at times to understand. But Croft realized that the little tribe, with the natives' melancholy sense of fatalism, had become convinced of its extinction, this conviction producing inertia. Apparently all attempts at cultivation had ceased, with all forethought for future generations.
When they emerged from the southern end of the forest, the little colony of huts came into view.
"The huts are deserted," Barbara observed. "Where is everybody?"
"Dressing for dinner, perhaps," he suggested lightly. "Oh, lord! I am dry. And they won't supply a whisky and soda! Celestial life has its drawbacks."
"I wonder what they wear?"
"Who? Gods?"
"No. The natives—for dinner."
He gave a shout of laughter, causing Chinabahal to jump with fright.
"Oh, just a reed or two, maybe. What we may come to, yet."
Barbara said no more.

Quickly he turned, in astonishment. "We may never see any other human beings!" she gasped.
With his usual swift penetration, understood, by the desperation in his voice and eyes, the overwhelming horrors raised by this thought. For a moment he hesitated; then, pulling his hand down into his, he clasped it to his chest, saying nothing. At his reassurance, the awful loneliness faded gradually, as the autumn mists when the sun breaks through.
A sudden outburst of exultant cry rent the air. The lengthy eulogy came to an end at last. The pathetic reliance in every swarthy breast manifested itself in wild leaps and jubilant shouts.
Croft, like Mr. Micawber, was slow in seizing an opportunity for a sentence. Raising his free hand to command silence, he gibbered off other duties assigned to him.
It was, he stated confidently, the gods' desire that he and his wife should live upon the island to assist the tribe in the recovery of its strength and prosperity. This provoked more uproarious shouting.
"They would have you to cultivate again the taro plant, which now is at weedy; weave much tapestry for yachts from the reeds; dry the silk kernels of the coconut; cultivate the cotton seed. Then, perchance, we should send great ships hither with wondrous gifts in return for the fruits of your toil!" Further shouts arose. "The gods would have us to visit freely your habitations and show you how to prevent the pestilences which devour your numbers."
This program was vociferously claimed; but Croft's experience of natives was too wide to allow of reliance upon their momentary enthusiasms. Flashing a stern glance around, he awed them into silence.
"If all this is done peacefully," continued, in threatening tones, "shall rest in safety. But if again your hands are lifted against us, your bodies shall be burned afresh with fire-devils! Your women shall slay; your little ones thrown to the sharks! The wrath of your god will bring down," waving his hand threateningly skyward, "and turn you in tortured slaves, if ever again ye mole the great white chief or his wife!"
Fear overcame the natives' enthusiasm. They fell on their faces again, babbling incoherently of obedience and mercy. He motioned them rise; then he drew back, satisfied. He had established comparative safety for them both, for the time being at events, and explained the scene Barbara, exultantly.
This introduction over, Chinabahal now informed his guest of his privilege in choosing the great sacrifice to be offered up at the close of the feast. Should the great white chief deign upon human sacrifice—The old man waved toward the crowd of face watching in tense apprehension. "All are here, O Mighty Chief."
Upon this arose a chorus of a sentiment cries, mixed with shouts. "Meemaa! Meemaa!" The natives pressed forward in eager anxiety. Chinabahal glanced up quickly.
"Where is Meemaa? I see her? Where is Roowa, her husband? A Lalo, her son?"
A little black figure was thrust roughly forward. He glanced round fearfully, uncertain whether to cry, prove the manhood of his five years. Deciding upon the former course, he eyes, in the act of screwing up, encountered those of the white man watching him curiously; and he paused, gazing at her, his mouth open. A smiling, a wondering grin slowly spread his small implish face, and moved nearer, looking up at her with childish adoration.
For the first time Barbara felt humanity behind the repulsive exterior of these folk. She held out her hand toward it, but some one roughly pulled him back; and she remembered, with some amusement, that she was tabu. Accompanied by much muttering of a scuffling, a man whose face was distinctly more intelligent than that of many of his fellows, slowly advanced Croft watched him closely.
"Roowa!" cried Chinabahal, "who are Meemaa and thy babe, that thou obeyed not the command to greet a great white chief?"
Many eager voices broke in, but he could reply.
"The babe is sick, O Chief!"
"The scourge, O Chief! It is agony in the house of Roowa! Let the great white chief save us from the scourge at the Sacrifice of the Full Moon night!"
Roowa uttered a great cry, and on his knees before Croft, eyes wide, arms outstretched, babbling protestations and piteous supplications.
The white man fully realized the craftiness of these fellows, also, delicacy of his own position, with necessity of causing no offense in the first action as overlord. His face, in its most determined, impetuous lines; his eyes flashed round the present, inspiring fear in the hearts of those upon whom they occasionally rested. Recognizing at last the man he sought, he motioned him forward. Larger than most, more brutal countenance, Barbara quickly recognized her late pursuer.
"What is he called?" Croft demanded of Chinabahal.
"Babooma, O Greatest of Chiefs!"
The two men regarded each other silently; and in the look of the native Croft recognized hatred and defiance in spite of the fear lurking in the eyes which met his own.
A dull murmur arose, in which a ear was quick to note hostility. The old chief's face was full of anxiety, he stepped forward, pulling his beard nervously.
"Few have so straight an aim."

12 Years Ago From The Daily of TODAY March 11, 1913

Reports of officials were received by the New Decatur city council, at its regular meeting last night.

Melvin Hutson, H. L. Kirby, Geo. D. Redding and S. R. Garrison left today to attend Head Camp convention of the W. O. W. at Tusculuma.

The Palace cafe is to install a large electric sign. Hon. Samuel Blackwell is being prominently mentioned for appointment as auditor of the treasury department.

A liquor raid on the old Bismark netted 49 gallons of liquor today.

Mrs. Gus Blackwell returned today from Birmingham, where she had been at the bedside of her daughter, Mrs. Warren, who now is much improved.

A DAILY PRAYER.—We ask Thee most humbly for the grace of forgiveness that our souls may be restored.

If you see great clouds of dust rolling up any of the thoroughfares of the city do not become alarmed, it isn't a young cyclone. The street sweeper is doing it's daily turn and the sprinkler remains in the winter crib. Might be a splendid plan to use the sprinkler once in a while.

Brother Meeks of the newspaper fraternity at Gadsden got all wrought up over the recent prize awards in a poetical contest conducted by the Nation, a New York magazine. The Gadsden Times is of the opinion that the poetry of the "intelligentsia" is very much like their thought and actions, all jumbled up.

A bus line is going to connect the Shoals cities and the Upper Shoals cities at a future date. That is the meaning of good roads. A year ago the same idea was abandoned, but today the road is in good shape, with the exception of seven miles. People are never satisfied, now all we want is that seven miles repaired.

DIRTY LITERATURE TRAVELING UNDER THE GUISE OF "ARTS"

The United States Federal courts and Postal authorities have successfully banned a great many publications that carried filth to the minds of the undeveloped and people who sought sensationalism, through the passage of laws prohibiting the sending of such literature through the mails, but there is yet another step to be taken.

There are many publications, magazines, booklets, pamphlets and broad-sides going into the mails and being delivered each day under the guise of "Art". To a great many people this so-called art is nothing more or less than filth. Filth to litter the brains of people who could otherwise be engaged in constructive thought. It is a human weakness to stop and smile at these things, and there are still others who stand up and swear that they are reading and studying these various publications and periodicals for the physical development and beauty, "for the sake of Art."

This guise should be removed from such literature. It should be placed in the proper class and dumped into the ash can with other refuse.

Millions of dollars are being heaped together daily through the publication of this dirt, but another matter must be taken into consideration. That is the influence that it has on the minds of old and young alike. There are some people who study these publications in honest conviction that they are put here for encouragement of physical development, they read them because they believe the material to be beneficial, but it is our opinion that the influence is even below degrading.

GENERAL JOSEPH WHEELER'S STATUE HONORS A GREAT MAN OF THE SOUTH

During the four years of the war between the states General Joseph Wheeler, daring and dashing cavalry commander, fought the battles of the South in many trying campaigns. For more than twenty years after the war between the states, General Joseph Wheeler fought the battles of the South in the Halls of Congress as a representative from Alabama. When the United States went to war with Spain, General Wheeler volunteered his services to his reunited country, was accepted as a cavalry officer and fought battles of the United States as aggressively, as loyally and as effectively as he previously had fought for his beloved Southland.

The memory of this Southern patriot and National hero, this conspicuously able warrior and no less conspicuously able statesman, is being honored by the erection of a statue, given by Alabama, the state he loved and served so long, as a testimonial of the love Alabama cherishes for one who so honored the state and the South during his long and active life. The statue has been placed in Statuary Hall of the Capitol at Washington and announcement is made by Representative Almon, who occupies the seat in congress so long held by General Wheeler, that the unveiling exercises will be held March 12.

It is peculiarly appropriate that General Wheeler's statue should be among the National heroes in Statuary Hall, for he was one of the Nation's most loyal and heroic sons, and this is true despite the fact that he fought for the Confederacy in the war that was waged for a cause he believed was right, a belief shared by all Southern people and still held by them. It was a cause that was lost however, and in losing it the South was rendered a land of crushed hopes and ruined homes. In the twenty years and more that he represented his district in Congress Gen. Wheeler did a wonderful work in gaining justice for the South in many ways and in helping the South to get upon her feet again. As statesman no less than as warrior, he was a great man and a great American, and his memory will always be revered by the people of the South and his loyalty to his reunited country recognized and honored by the people of all the land.—Anniston Star.

FLORIDA AND CAROLINA ENJOY BOOM; WHAT STATE WILL BE THE NEXT?

At this time the state of Florida is undergoing a complete revolution in a growth that history has recorded but in few states over the country. Carolina was the last of the line before Florida received the tremendous impetus of development, what southern state will be the next to feel the weight of the money bags of the east?

Statistics have not yet been compiled on the enormous growth of Florida in point of population, land values, industrial and agricultural out put, roadways and the leasing of water power. The only gauge the outside world has for realizing the growth of Florida is the mental picture that comes into the mind at the mention of that state. Some of us see the pot at the end of the rainbow others see the land shysters, schemers, marshes pictured as thriving orange groves, but whatever mental conclusion is drawn, the fact remains that Florida is growing.

North Carolina can be reached from a different angle. statistics have been compiled to show how that section has passed through the period of rapid growth and settled into a slow but lengthy stride always on the road to prosperity.

Alabama is a greater state in point of land area, leading Carolina by nearly 3,000 square miles, yet Alabama fell short of the percentage of growth with a 9.8 per cent while Carolina showed a gain of 11.4 in a period of over ten years.

Carolina figures showed a distinct advantage in the assessment of property value with a percentage of 320 gain over a decade. Alabama in this same period gained by 86 per cent.

Carolina lead in manufactures, agriculture, cotton mill increase, everything that could be brought into the records of the two states. Alabama maintained a fair pace only, for the ten year period and there is some reason behind the loss of ground that she has suffered in comparison with the growth of North Carolina.

Look into the figures on expenditures for schools and roads, the development of water power and the increase in bank deposits and you have the answer.

North Carolina spent for highways in the year 1922 $23,037,084. In that same year Alabama appropriated $7,401,208. Bank deposits showed in 1922 that Carolina had $308,039,000. Alabama had in the same year a total of $181,554,000 in bank deposits. The expenditures for schools (common) showed Carolina with $22,079,000 and Alabama with $13,506,000. The amount of developed water power in the year 1921 showed Carolina out in front with 329,853 horsepower and Alabama with 117,788. These figures have been compiled by the Blue Book of Southern Progress and an interesting study of conditions in the two states results.

Alabama has not been backward in the years between 1910 and 1925. The state has enjoyed growth in all industries, manufacturing, highways, water power, and agricultural development, but Alabama has been slow. Whether it has been due to the perpetual laziness caused by the southern atmosphere here, the placing of energy at the wrong accomplishment, or what not, the fact remains that the state has been slow in the path of progress.

Alabama has the greater natural advantages of either Florida or North Carolina, but in those states the people have risen in an effort to make their states stand to the fore in everything that means a gain in the aggregate wealth, health and prosperity of the state. They have co-operated for the entire state, that the whole people might benefit.

Here in Alabama we have worked on what might be termed a sectional basis. Mobile has had her port fights and called upon the rest of the state to respond, which it did, but in a matter of form way that spoke of half-heartedness. Birmingham has had her industrial growth, but little did the rest of the state care whether the Magic City kept the pace deserving of that name. Understand, they were happy and smiling over the thought that Birmingham was near the top as a leading southern city, but it didn't make a great deal of difference after all. North Alabama has her Muscle Shoals, that gigantic water power project that has been before the eyes of the nation for more than six years. North Alabama lit into the fight with all her energy and effort, some of the neighboring states offered a helping hand, but south of Birmingham it seemed that the people didn't care a great deal if North Alabama was denied the growth. The entire spirit has been that if it is "not for me directly, then what difference does it make." We have been seeing no further than our nose.

Take, for instance, the first plan that was adopted for bridging the river at this point. Did the people of Limestone and Madison county jump in and offer a hand. No. True, they may have had some foundation for their quiet attitude because Morgan did not help herself. We made no progress in the first plan because people did not stand together for the common and fight for what they believed was best for the section as a whole. It isn't the policy of the Daily to criticize the counties of Madison and Limestone for having failed to turn over a share of the bridge appropriation, it is the effort to make the section see that what benefits one will benefit the other. No man ever grew to such gigantic proportions in spirit, mind, or body that he did not need the aid of his fellowman. Later in Madison and Limestone may wish to put over a project that means much to them and little to Morgan County, what will the attitude be? Will it remain the same policy of isolation that has been seen all over the state, or will Morgan assume the attitude that the North Carolina counties have shown and come to the aid of their sister counties?

The feature is what has won out for North Carolina, that is the very reason why North Carolina has maintained the record for growth that she is enjoying. No matter where the project was located, nor what the project happened to be, just so long as the project was good and substantial, the counties banded together for the growth of all. That is the spirit that wins out.

When the various sections of this state get together behind the plans for the growth of the entire state, then the figures for the growth of the state will be changed. Not until.

PROGRESSIVE CULTURE CLUB LUNCHEON. HOSTESSES MESDAMES JOHN D. WYKER AND S. A. LYNNE

The members of the Progressive Culture Club assembled in the drawing rooms of the Lyons Hotel on Tuesday where they were greeted by the hostesses, Mesdames John D. Wyker and S. A. Lynne. At one o'clock luncheon was announced when the hostesses lead the way to the private dining room where a well appointed table was decorated with silver vases of daffodils. The place cards were unique bon-bon receptacles, balanced on the back of each was that dear old good luck symbol, a golden crescent, a beautiful maiden seated on it's edge. The cards named places for Mesdames Will Wyker, W. R. Shelton, J. W. Cunningham, S. A. Lynne, W. T. Lowe, E. C. Payne, Claude Orear, L. K. Wiggins, D. D. McGehee, E. H. Allison, John D. Wyker and Miss Rebecca Leadingham. At the conclusion of the many course luncheon, Mrs. Wyker invited the guests to join her at the Wyker residence on Canal street for the club program.

Madame President called the club to order on arrival at the Wyker residence. Minutes of the last meetings were heard and approved. Mrs. McGehee gave a very interesting report of a meeting of the Local Council that met Tuesday morning at the Library. Then Secretary read, Mrs. L. K. Wiggins called the roll that was responded to with current events.

An election of officers resulted in the re-election of the same executive board who are: Mrs. D. D. McGehee, president; Mrs. F. F. Tidwell, first vice president; Mrs. J. W. Cunningham second vice president; Mrs. G. D. Williamson, recording secretary; Mrs. S. A. Lynne, corresponding secretary; Mrs. B. Crawford, treasurer; Mrs. E. C. Payne, referee.

Mrs. Wyker reviewed her travels abroad this summer giving detailed accounts of visits to English cathedrals, illustrating with postcards, taking her friends with her on that delightful trip abroad. The collection of souvenirs were beautiful. She had exquisite lace from Brussels, Antwerp, Venice and many beautiful carved cameo pins brought from Florence. No one was overlooked, gifts for sons, daughters, and grand-children were brought. After this very interesting programme the club adjourned to meet with Mrs. J. W. Cunningham on March 24th. The guest list for this delightful hospitality included Mrs. Will Wyker, Mrs. E. H. Allison and Miss Leadingham.

YARBROUGH-ASHFORD WEDDING SOLEMNIZED

A wedding of much interest was that of Miss Etha Mae Ashford of this city and Mr. Jesse A. Yarbrough of Albany, Ala., which was solemnized Saturday evening in the parlors of the First Baptist church. Dr. Powell officiated in the presence of a few intimate friends. Miss Lorena Ashford, a sister of the bride, served as her maid of honor and Mr. Claude Mathew served as best man.

The bride was beautiful in a Gypsy rose ensemble suit with a hat of the same shade and accessories to match. Her only adornment was a diamond platinum pin given by the groom. She wore a corsage of roses and lilac of the valley. Miss Lorena Ashford was attired in a blonde flat crepe with harmonizing accessories. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for Birmingham, Ala., and after being entertained there by Mr. Paul Thomas, a sister of the bride, they will go on an extensive trip through several of the Southern states, visiting many points of interest.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. Yarbrough will make their home in Albany, Ala., where the groom is a valued employee of the L. & N. Railroad company.—Nashville Banner.

DANCE ON SATURDAY EVENING

The dance planned for Saturday evening from 8 to 12 o'clock in the Echols building on Church street promises to be one of the largest given here in some time. Music will be furnished by the Watson Bell Hops, of Chicago.

There will be a business meeting of Mrs. Payne's Bible Class on Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock with Miss Sabine Dupont as hostess at her home on Jackson street.

LOCAL FEDERATED CLUBS MEET

The local Federation of Women's Clubs met on Tuesday morning at 9:30 o'clock at the Carnegie Library with a very enthusiastic gathering present.

Officers were elected as follows: President, Mrs. L. K. Wiggins, secretary and treasurer, Mrs. L. P. Troup. In the absence of Mrs. Wiggins, Mrs. W. C. Bailey presided. Several matters of importance brought before the individual clubs by the State Federation were taken up, probably the most important of those being the response to the letter from Mrs. E. C. Payne, chairman of the Community Service Committee of the first district that was read by Mrs. D. D. McGehee, regarding the arrangement for a community day instead of reciprocity day that has been abolished. Friday March 20, was set aside for this purpose and at 3 p. m. on that day all of the Federated Clubs will meet at the library. Mrs. E. C. Payne was appointed chairman of the program committee, and two items on the program will be the clearest town contest and public playgrounds.

Three matters discussed at the meeting on Tuesday included the abolishment of sale of obscene magazines in the Twin Cities, the matter of the need of signal lights at the Vine street railroad crossing, and the request that questionable plays be barred from the local theatres and chairman appointed to report on these at the Community Day meeting were respectively: Mrs. J. T. Nelson, for Decatur, and Mrs. E. D. Whitman, in Albany, on the magazine committee; and Mrs. W. H. Ritter regarding the signals.

Great things are being planned for this year's work in the Federation and representatives from the different clubs of the Twin Cities pledged the support of their respective clubs to complete a difficult program.

Mrs. J. E. Yarbrough will leave next week for Birmingham to undergo an operation.

Miss Jimmie Mae Shipp, of Fayetteville, Tenn., is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Lethal Smith, in Albany.

Power in the Blood!

You will be compelled to admit that the results of S. S. S. are really amazing!

MAN'S GLORY is his strength—yet how few there are who are really as strong as they should be. The blood thin, gets weaker, blood cells wear out—general weakness and a gradual break-down of the system results.

We know there is one thing that puts power in the blood, and that is more red blood cells—S.S.S. builds them by the millions! We know that as blood cells increase in number, blood impurities vanish! But have you ever actually taken advantage of this wonderful fact? Thousands just like you have never thought of it. So-called skin eruptions—pimples, boils, blackheads, eczema all pack up and go when the tide of blood cells begins to roll in. Blood cells are the fighting giants of Nature. S.S.S. is one of the greatest blood cell builders, blood cleansers and body builders known to us mortals. Here is your opportunity! S.S.S. contains only vegetable medicinal ingredients. Because S.S.S. does build red blood cells, it routs rheumatism, builds firm flesh, fills out hollow cheeks, beautifies the complexion, builds you up when you are run-down.

Start taking S.S.S. today and get back that power in your blood!

S. S. S. is sold at all good drug stores in two sizes. The larger size is more economical.

TUESDAY AFTERNOON BRIDGE CLUB

Mrs. W. E. Crawford entertained the Tuesday Afternoon Bridge Club at her home on Cain street on Tuesday afternoon. Myriads of jonquills were tastefully arranged around the living and dining rooms.

The guest souvenir was awarded to Mrs. D. S. Echols and the club trophy to Mrs. Crawford. After the usual five games of bridge the hostess served delectable refreshments.

The guests included Mrs. William Moschel, Jr., Mrs. Frank Lide and Mrs. D. S. Echols.

Mrs. Sharp will leave Saturday to spend the week-end with friends in Birmingham.

Mrs. R. H. Wolcott will spend a few days this week in Birmingham.

Giants and Senators Renew Battle That Ended In the Twilight of Last Autumn

The Worlds Champion Senators and the near champion Giants continued their rivalry that was brought to a close last fall when McNeeley slapped out the hit that meant the first championship for the Senatorial ship and the sinking of the Giant craft. The Giants turned the tables this time and captured a game from the Harrisites at Palm Beach, Florida, 8-7, when Ross Young hit safely in the eighth inning. The Senators got away to an early lead, but the showing the old fight that McGraw has taught them the Giants came back in the fifth and counted five runs on as many hits. A single, three triples and Southworths home run put the tallies away. The Senators again took the lead only to be cut away in the eighth when Young slapped a single scoring Southworth and Groh. Both teams trotted their pitching staffs to the hill with the exception of Walter Johnson. The Giants started Nehf and then sent the rookies in for a pushing round. The Senators used Zachary, Russell and Marberry.

Jack Johnson carried his tactics of civil life into the ring last night at Duluth where he was wrestling Charles Leppanen, Finnish wrestler, and the former heavy weight champion was disqualified on a foul. Johnson started boxing and the contest was awarded to the Finn. Both wrestlers had won a fall when the foul was called.

An official invitation has been sent to President Calvin Coolidge to throw the first ball to the Senators as they lineup at Griffith stadium for the first tussel of the year with the New York Yankees. No notification of his acceptance has yet been received.

Herewith is solution to Puzzle No. 123:

How to Solve Puzzle.

The best way to solve this cross-word puzzle is to run over the list of horizontal and vertical synonyms in search of evident or "easy" words. If horizontal, the word you are looking for must extend crosswise from the number to the first shaded stop on the right; if vertical, it must extend downward from the number to the first shaded stop below. When finished, the words should read equally well crosswise and downward.

Getting Too Fat?

Try This—Reduce

People who don't grow fat are the fortunate exception. But if you find the fat accumulating or already cumbersome, you will be wise to follow this suggestion, which is endorsed by thousands of people who know. Ask your druggist for Marmola Prescription Tablets and follow directions. One dollar is the price the world over. Get them from your druggist or send price direct to Marmola Co., General Motors Bldg., Detroit, Mich. By doing this you will be able to reduce steadily and easily and pleasantly, without starvation diet or tiresome exercise. Start taking them today and get slender.—Adv.

GET FEELING WELL AGAIN

From Mother Nature's storehouse we have gathered the roots, barks and herbs which are compounded, under the famous Tanlac formula to make Tanlac. This great tonic and builder has brought health and strength to millions.

If your body is weak and undernourished, if you can't sleep or eat, have stomach trouble or burning rheumatism, just you see how quickly Tanlac can help you back to health and strength.

Most people notice a big change for the better after the very first bottle. They have better appetites and more pep. The sparkle comes back to their dull eyes and color to their faded cheeks.

Don't delay taking Tanlac another precious day. Stop at your druggist's now and get a bottle of this, the greatest of all tonics.

EASTER EVANGELISTIC CAMPAIGN TO BE LAUNCHED

A religious census of Hartselle was taken last Sunday afternoon, by members of the First Methodist church, preliminary to the launching of an evangelistic campaign through the Easter season. Meeting at the church Sunday afternoon at two o'clock, the different committees each under a separate chairman started the work, the town having been zoned for each respective committee.

It is the plan of the pastor to have a week of evangelistic services, and Rev. Roy Hewlett now stationed at Anniston has been secured for this occasion.

Prayer meetings have been provided for in each district and will continue until the beginning of the meeting.
